Location

Whitehaven is one of the major commercial centres in West Cumbria with a resident population of approximately 26,000 drawing on an estimated catchment circa 72,000. The town has undergone extensive regeneration in recent years, strengthening its position as a tourist and retail centre, including the creation of a 214 berth marina. The subject site is situated off Coach Road to the south of Whitehaven town centre which provides a link from the A5094 to the B5345 Ganns to Kells Road, in an area of mixed commercial, residential and leisure users.

Description

A 'wedge' shaped development site with good frontage to Coach Road the site has previously been used for a variety of commercial uses, most recently as a contractor's office and depot. The site has now been cleared of all built structures and is ready for redevelopment. The Site forms part of the "Corkickle" area which has been identified by Nugen as having potential for the development of large temporary worker accommodation and associated facilities to support the proposed Moorside Project, which of course centres around the construction and operation of a new nuclear power station adjacent to the existing Sellafield site to the south.

Services

All mains services are available to the site, including gas.
